

The Middle East in Turmoil...

What happens next?

This is your opportunity to hear David Dolan: broadcast journalist, popular speaker, and author, as he brings up-to-the-minute reports and Bible-based commentary on events as they are unfolding in the Epicentre, of the God of the Bible's dealings with the world today.

David is a Jerusalem-based author and journalist. Born and raised in the United States, he has lived and worked in Israel since 1980.

After studying at a Bible College in his native Pacific Northwest, David graduated from a broadcasting journalism school in 1976. He subsequently worked for the Moody radio network's Spokane affiliate. His Middle East media career began in 1982 when he began serving as news director at the Voice of Hope radio station in war-torn southern Lebanon. From April 1984, he reported from Jerusalem for the Washington DC-based IMS news network, and later for CBN's Middle East Television (METV) in Jerusalem.

David became a regular reporter for the CBS radio network in early 1988, soon after the first Palestinian uprising broke out. He also covered the massive immigration of Soviet Jews to Israel, the 1991 Gulf War, and many other stories during the 1990s, along with the new Palestinian attrition war, that began in September 2000. He is currently reporting the American Salem Network, the Zola Levitt programme and many other outlets.

A frequent guest on many other radio and television programmes in the USA and elsewhere, David also writes a regular opinion column for the popular World Net Daily website. He began authoring the monthly Israel News Digest for Christian Friends of Israel in 1986. He has also written hundreds of articles for many Christian and secular publications, including for the Jerusalem Post, Moody Monthly, Charisma, and Prophecy Today (UK).

David Dolan is also a well-known international speaker. He has appeared at many Christian and secular universities, international conferences, Jewish synagogues and forums, and before many churches and civic groups. He has toured over 20 times in the United States, and has frequently visited Canada, Great Britain, Germany, Holland, Singapore and Australia. He has also spoken in Ireland, Norway, Switzerland,

Hungary, Austria, New Zealand and Hong Kong. He also addresses visiting tour groups in Israel and foreign students studying in Jerusalem. Along with US Senator John Ashcroft and two other recipients, David was awarded an honorary Doctor of Letters degree from Louisiana Baptist University in 1998.
